On the nights of the 4th and 5th our harbor was the secnet of an attempt at piracy. The facts, as I am informed, are as follows: "About 11 p. m. on the 4th two boats approached the American steamer Shooting Star with mullied ours, one on each side. Only one of the boats was perceived at first, which seemed to contain about twenty men. The other boat had only three men. Finding the crew on the silert, the large boat retired, but while attention was being called to it, the other boat had boat suppside, and a man, unparceived by any of the crew, managed to get on board. Shortly afterward, he was suized and handcuffied, but during the night he was suized and handcuffied, but during the night he water, and called to the steamer Toox, which lowered a boat and picked him up."

On the 5th the captain learned that another attempt on the star of the sengine come, when he was suized and handcuffied, but during the port for friends on shore, applied to the captain of the port for protection.
